leaf 1 recto

Good father understanding by Mr Hollins one of the fellows of our house who came lately forth of Staffordshire that it hath pleased God to take away my good Grandmother from us, I cannot but take it very heavily because she hath been ever loving and most kind both to me and all the rest of us, yet I praise God for sparing her so long a time amongst us whom I doubt not but he hath made partaker of his eternal felicity. Now therefore having so convenient a messenger as this bearer. Mr Morton's son of Angleton who was a student in our house but now is gone away, I could not but remember my humble duty to you and my mother, and that thanks be to God I am in perfect health. Thus craving your daily blessings and praying to the almighty for your long prosperity I rest in haste./
