

Letter from Walter Bagot to unidentified recipient, circa 1620: autograph manuscript draft, Papers of the Bagot family of Blithfield, Staffordshire. Transcription by Early Modern Manuscripts Online (EMMO). MS L.a.162, Folger Shakespeare Library, Washington, DC.

leaf 1 recto

Sir

I pray you will take the advice of some friend of judgment and understanding what course may best beholden for your good in the execution of the writ of supplicavit you delivered unto me My own opinion is rather to have it suppressed then prosecuted my reasons are these if your mother were defamed by another man that she were of unhoneſt Conversation a malefactor and a Common perturber of of the peace do you not think (as you are her ſon born of her body & a gentleman) you are bounden to defend her reputation? I know you would do it why then ſhould you endeavor to lay ſuch a diſgrace upon her wherein you cannot but receive the like being deſcended of her. Moreover in all the time of my experience I have never known any man or woman procure any writ of that nature againſt father or mother And why ſhould you be the firſt againſt a mother from whence you expect a fair Inheritance? Admit her intemperance

leaf 1 verso || leaf 2 recto leaf 2 verso

From Walter Bagot