Dearest

ffather) I heare (to my greate greife) the sorrowfull newes of my Sister in lawes death, of whence you haue a greate losse, my Brother a greater, and his children the greatest of all: yet I doubte not, but you, see, and they, will so conceaue of it as done by the will of God, which mortalitie is not able to resist, and therefore your greife may be the lesse. I thanke God, I like my liueing ~~heare~~ very well, but I feare I shall be very chargeable to you, especially for my diet, which I know not how to remedie, for our commons ordinarily amounte to seauen shillinge a weeke, and at grande weekes, and Readeings, and other expensiuie times, to much more. My three halfe peeces which Edwarde wright left with me, are almoste all disbursed for commons, as will appeare vnto you, by this note here inclosed; wherefore I woulde intreate you to sende me vp some moniie by the next conuenient messenger, to discharge the house for my commons now to come, for though I coulde be trusted for a quarter of a yeare to ga^ether, yet if monie be to be had, it is nether so good husbandrie, nor so much for a mans credit, to be trusted, as to paye at the weeke, or the fortnights ende. And so rememberinge my humble dutie to you, with daylie prayers to God for your health; I rest./

Inner Temple this 27th

sonne William Bagott
